FORMER GERMAN EMPRESS IS DEAD

Augusta Victoria, Noted For Her Charity Work, Dies In Exile—Burial To Be In Germany

(By Associated Press)
Doorn, Holland, April 11.—Former Empress Augusta Victoria of Germany, died at six o'clock this morning. By a strange coincidence the end came just one year after she suffered the first attack of heart disease. Former Emperor William and Prince Adalbert were at her bedside.

The death of the former Empress came as a shock to dwellers in Doorn Castle as during the last week the patient's condition seemed less serious.

Saturday, however, a message was sent to Princess Victoria Louise, at Vienna, calling her to Doorn. She had not reached Doorn when death came.

Last night the patient was only semi-conscious, frequent hypodermic injections alleviating her sufferings. Breathing hourly became more difficult and by daybreak her pulse grew weaker the evident end near, and her husband and son, Prince Adalbert notified of its approach. She became unconscious and at six o'clock breath left the frail body. The former Empress stood at the bedside as death came. He remained in the room for sometime afterward.

In the village bells tolled and the streets filled with villagers discussing the event.

To Be Buried In Germany
Doorn, April 11.—An Amsterdam special says the funeral of the former German Empress will be held tomorrow and the body taken to Potsdam Wednesday. The former Emperor will accompany the body to the Dutch frontier.

The German Empress, Augusta Victoria, Queen of Prussia, was notable chiefly for her lively interest in charitable work and her efforts to relieve the distress of the poor. It has been said of her that she was not a gifted or especially graceful woman and that she cared more for the simple duties of her home life than for royal functions.

It is not known that she exercised any considerable influence politically or that she desired to do so. Her talents seemed, instead, to be directed to the task of becoming a helpful wife and a devoted mother of six sons and one daughter. That she achieved this aim, Emperor William frequently attested. He once described her as "the ideal of the virtues of a German princess. She is it," he declared "to whom I owe that I am able to bear the weighty responsibilities of my position in a joyful spirit."

Concerning the attitude of the Empress toward the war little is known. There has been nothing to indicate that she differed from her consort in the German ambition for world domination. Some indication of her point of view was given in her reply in July, 1818, to a letter written by the wife of the Dutch Minister of War. In responding, the Empress declared that Germany repeatedly had manifested her readiness for peace which, she declared, had not been entertained by the opposing powers.

That she subscribed to the contention of military leaders that Germany was fighting a defensive war, was shown by a statement she issued at the beginning of the great conflict in which she said that Germany was arming itself for a "fight which it did not cause or begin and which it is carrying on only to defend herself." In this appeal she asked German women to aid in caring for the German wounded.

Numerous instances in which the Empress visited German hospitals and expressed lively sympathy for the wounded soldiers have been reported during the war. On one occasion she was said to have broken down at the sight of great numbers of the German wounded sent home after one of the great battles in 1918.

For more than 10 years the Empress suffered in health and this was attributed to a disease of the heart but, after treatment at German watering places, she recovered her normal health.

Her sympathy with underpaid workers of Germany was disclosed on a visit some years ago to an exhibition of home industries in Berlin where it was stated that she was deeply moved by the evidence she saw there of the fact that many German workers earn only starvation wages. "What can be done to stop this misery," she inquired.

Her tenderness as a mother was revealed during the illness of her second son, Prince Eitel, whom she attended night and day. Arriving at the house where he was under physicians' care at 6 a. m., one morning she refused to rouse any one for fear of disturbing him and, with her maid, walked up and down for an hour in the wintry morning until the doors were opened by the servants.

Born October 22, 1858, at Dolzig, Augusta Victoria was the oldest daughter of Grand Duke Frederick of Schleswig-Holstein-Sonderburg-Angensteinburg, and raised as a princess of Schleswig-Holstein. Her early childhood was spent at Kiel. She was married to the then Prince William of Prussia, on February 27, 1881. They had six sons and one daughter.

CANEER GIVES UP SCHOOL FOR FARM

Prof. M. L. Caneer, who left Caldwell school here, to become superintendent of school at Stanford about four years ago, has resigned there. The Stanford Journal tells of it as follows:

Prof. M. L. Caneer, who has been head of the Stanford High and Graded School several years, has tendered his resignation and will leave Stanford and the school at the conclusion of the present term. There is no more excellent gentleman anywhere than Prof. Caneer and there is general regret that he is to leave Stanford. The recent death of a brother makes it imperative that he return to his home in Commerceville, Tenn., and look after the farm his brother cared for during later years. Who Prof. Caneer's successor will be is not yet known but it will be a hard task to find for the head of the Stanford High and Graded School a finer Christian gentleman than the present incumbent.

New York, April 11.—Little credence was placed today by lawyers connected with the divorce action brought by James A. Stillman, president of the National City Bank, against his wife, Mrs. Anne Upphart Stillman, in the report that Stillman intended to abandon his suit.

MUCH LEGISLATION TO NEW CONGRESS

Special Session Called by Harding Convenes at Nation's Capital Monday

(By Associated Press)
Washington, April 11.—The 67th Congress assembled promptly at noon today for the first session expected to continue until fall.

Except for the reorganization of the house and the usual flood of bills, today's meeting was somewhat perfunctory. Congress marking time until receipt tomorrow of President Harding's first annual message outlining his views on many important problems. This Congress is the first controlled by republicans to meet in a decade.

The Senate was previously organized at the special session on March 4.

The House today reorganized by overwhelmingly electing Frederick H. Gillette, of Massachusetts, over Claude Kitchen, democratic candidate for Speaker.

Fully a thousand bills and resolutions were introduced today. There was no peace resolution in the lot, this awaiting President Harding's views.

Washington, April 11.—Reconstruction of American affairs, at home and abroad is the theme of the Sixty-Seventh congress, assembling at noon today in extraordinary session at the call of President Harding. A vast expanse of legislation, promising to prolong the session, confronts the new congress.

Programs of the senate and house for today's opening were confined to organization. The work of the new congress, informally arranged by pre-session conferences of leaders, awaited formal delineation, tomorrow and Wednesday, in President Harding's message. This was expected to deal principally with domestic affairs, tariff, internal revenue and other home legislation. Peace and other international problems were scheduled for attention later in the session.

The special session beginning today—which will be the first of three—marks the return of the Republican party to complete national control. Not since President Taft's time have the White House, the senate and house and the government departments all been under Republican rule. The senate convenes with 59 Republicans and 37 Democrats and the house with 300 Republicans and 132 Democrats, and one Socialist.

Pre-eminent in the extra session program is fiscal legislation. This includes the Fordney emergency bill, in line for immediate action, anti-dumping legislation, substitution of American for foreign valuations of imports, permanent tariff revision, a new internal revenue tax law, the budget system bill, and the soldiers' bonus bill. Other measures are those for reorganization of government departments and for reclassification of federal salary and wage scales.

The opening flood of bills and resolutions which failed during the last congress which adjourned March 4 last, always begins in the house. Introduction of senate bills and resolutions comes tomorrow.

Most of the senate and house members, new and old, were present for today's opening. Although perfunctory, the opening session always is the magnet for spectators. The senate having organized during its special session after March 4, interest today centered in the house proceedings.

Few important changes in Republican organization in either senate or house were in prospect. Representative Mondell, Wyoming, continued as Republican floor leader in the house and Representative Kitchin, North Carolina, returned to that position for the Democrats. Republican committee appointments were increased and Democratic reduced on all senate and house committees because of the Republican gains in congress. Chairmanships mostly remained unchanged. Under new senate rules, many senate minor committees were abolished and senators' committee assignments reduced.

The first legislation planned during the extra session is the Fordney emergency tariff bill.

Leaders hope to get it into President Harding's hands this week, virtually in the form in which it was vetoed by former President Wilson last March.

Permanent tariff revision is expected to follow the emergency bill in the house. The senate calendar is headed by the $25,000,000 Colombian treaty, with an agreement to vote in eight days. Ratification is being predicted, although there is vigorous opposition from a large faction of Republicans, who plan after tomorrow to open the doors for debate. It is expected that President Harding's special message to the senate in extra session last month will then be made public.

Immediate action is also planned by the senate on many nominations. A long list, including recess appointments, is expected tomorrow from the White House. Two of the annual appropriation bills needed July 1—the army and navy budgets—are to be pressed through early in the session. The army measure, carrying $346,000,000, suffered a "pocket veto" by former President Wilson last March, while the navy bill, in which the house appropriated $395,000,000 and the senate naval committee $496,000,000 failed in the senate fight over disarmament.

International relations promise to play a large but probably delayed part in the new congress. Of first consideration is the ending of the war status with Germany and Austria. Restoration of trade with Russia, Japanese questions and probably Panama canal tolls were other big subjects in the offing.

In addition to the program of tariff and tax revision, the Republican leadership promised hasty action to curtail immigration. The measure vetoed by former President Wilson was scheduled for early passage, possibly first in the senate while the house is engaged with fiscal reform.

LIED, ELWELL SUSPECT SAYS

Tells Detective He Sought to Test Loyalty of Wife in the Face of Trouble

Buffalo, April 11.—Roy Harris, held here by the police on his confession that he was concerned in the murder of Joseph B. Elwell in New York last June, Sunday confessed that his story is not true. The prisoner had been questioned for two hours by District Attorney Moore, at the end of which time he made a statement admitting that his original declaration was a lie.

Mr. Moore sent word to Chas. S. Whitman and Captain Carey of the New York police, who were on their way to Buffalo. The development may cause them to change their plans and return to New York from Albany.

Harris alleges as his reason for the hoax that he had been separated from his wife and had met her again only last week and desired to know whether she would be staunch to him were he in serious trouble. He said that if she had not proved "loyal and true blue" he would have gone to the electric chair without regret.

Harris confessed the hoax to Detective Oswald, of the New York force, Saturday night, but the police officer did not make the fact public because he wished, he said, to talk with Mr. Whitman and Captain Carey first.

He placed a charge of first degree murder against the prisoner and ordered him held incommunicado. After a few hours that charge was withdrawn. Oswald says that it was through his wife that the prisoner's tale was disproved. He took the woman to the outlying police station where the man was locked up and let them talk for an hour or so.

Harris had insisted that his wife was in St. Catharines, Ontario, during the planning of the Elwell murder, while she declared that she was with him in New York that week. She said she gave him a birthday gift of socks that week.

"Did you get a birthday present last year?" asked Oswald.

"Why, yes, two pairs of socks," said Harris.

"Who gave them to you?"

"My wife," said Harris, with hesitation.

"But you said your wife was in St. Catharines at that time," said Oswald.

"Oh, well, you've caught me. The whole thing is a fake," said Harris, with a hopeless gesture.

At noon Sunday Harris was taken to the district attorney's office and confronted with his wife. After he admitted the hoax, he was returned to his cell and ordered held without bail in solitary confinement. This was done, the local police say, at the request of Oswald. The wife was returned to her cell, also.

MUCH LEGISLATION TO NEW CONGRESS

Special Session Called by Harding Convenes at Nation's Capital Monday

(By Associated Press)
Washington, April 11.—The 67th Congress assembled promptly at noon today for the first session expected to continue until fall.

Except for the reorganization of the house and the usual flood of bills, today's meeting was somewhat perfunctory, Congress marking time until receipt tomorrow of President Harding's first annual message outlining his views on many important problems. This Congress is the first controlled by republicans to meet in a decade.

The Senate was previously organized at the special session on March 4.

The House today reorganized by overwhelmingly electing Frederick H. Gillette, of Massachusetts, over Claude Kitchen, democratic candidate for Speaker.

Fully a thousand bills and resolutions were introduced today. There was no peace resolution in the lot, this awaiting President Harding's views.

Washington, April 11.—Reconstruction of American affairs at home and abroad is the theme of the Sixty-Seventh congress, assembling at noon today in extraordinary session at the call of President Harding. A vast expanse of legislation, promising to prolong the session, confronts the new congress.

Programs of the senate and house for today's opening were confined to organization. The work of the new congress, informally arranged by pre-session conferences of leaders, awaited formal delineation, tomorrow and Wednesday, in President Harding's message. This was expected to deal principally with domestic affairs, tariff, internal revenue and other home legislation. Peace and other international problems were scheduled for attention later in the session.

The special session beginning today—which will be the first of three—marks the return of the Republican party to complete national control. Not since President Taft's time have the White House, the senate and house and the government departments all been under Republican rule. The senate convenes with 59 Republicans and 37 Democrats and the house with 300 Republicans and 132 Democrats, and one Socialist.

Pre-eminent in the extra session program is fiscal legislation. This includes the Fordney emergency bill, in line for immediate action, anti-dumping legislation, substitution of American for foreign valuations of imports, permanent tariff revision, a new internal revenue tax law, the budget system bill, and the soldiers' bonus bill. Other measures are those for reorganization of government departments and for reclassification of federal salary and wage scales.

The opening flood of bills and resolutions which failed during the last congress which adjourned March 4 last, always begins in the house. Introduction of senate bills and resolutions comes tomorrow.

Most of the senate and house members, new and old, were present for today's opening. Although perfunctory, the opening session always is the magnet for spectators. The senate having organized during its special session after March 4, interest today centered in the house proceedings.

Few important changes in Republican organization in either senate or house were in prospect. Representative Mondell, Wyoming, continued as Republican floor leader in the house, and Representative Kitchen, North Carolina, returned to that position for the Democrats. Republican committee appointments were increased and Democratic reduced on all senate and house committees because of the Republican gains in congress. Chairmanships mostly remained unchanged. Under new senate rules, many senate minor committees were abolished and senators' committee assignments reduced.

The first legislation planned during the extra session is the Fordney emergency tariff bill.

Leaders hope to get it into President Harding's hands this week, virtually in the form in which it was vetoed by former President Wilson last March.

Permanent tariff revision is expected to follow the emergency bill in the house.

The senate calendar is headed by the $25,000,000 Colombian treaty, with an agreement to vote in eight days. Ratification is being predicted, although there is vigorous opposition from a large faction of Republicans, who plan after tomorrow to open the doors for debate. It is expected that President Harding's special message to the senate in extra session last month will then be made public.

Immediate action is also planned by the senate on many nominations. A long list, including recess appointments, is expected tomorrow from the White House. Two of the annual appropriation bills needed July 1—the army and navy budgets—are to be pressed through early in the session. The army measure, carrying $346,000,000, suffered a "pocket veto" by former President Wilson last March, while the navy bill, in which the house appropriated $395,000,000 and the senate naval committee $496,000,000 failed in the senate fight over disarmament.

International relations promise to play a large but probably delayed part in the new congress. Of first consideration is the ending of the war status with Germany and Austria. Restoration of trade with Russia, Japanese questions and probably Panama canal tolls were other big subjects in the offing.

In addition to the program of tariff and tax revision, the Republican leadership promised hasty action to curtail immigration. The measure vetoed by former President Wilson was scheduled for early passage, possibly first in the senate while the house is engaged with fiscal reform.

Jack Boswell Fined $25

Jack Boswell, well known Red House pike farmer, was found guilty of violating the compulsory education law and fined $25 by a jury in Judge Price's court Friday morning. The case attracted considerable interest. Boswell was defended by Attorney C. C. Wallace, while County Attorney O. P. Jackson and Capt. W. T. Short prosecuted. Teachers, Prof. Quirk and Miss Macie Turpin, testified to non-attendance of the children at their schools. Mr. Boswell said he was prevented by high water in the creek, preparations to move and other such causing from sending the children, only two of the three being of school age, he said. He said the children were in delicate health.

LIED, ELWELL SUSPECT SAYS

Tells Detective He Sought to Test Loyalty of Wife in the Face of Trouble

Buffalo, April 11.—Roy Harris, held here by the police on his confession that he was concerned in the murder of Joseph B. Elwell in New York last June, Sunday confessed that his story is not true. The prisoner had been questioned for two hours by District Attorney Moore, at the end of which time he made a statement admitting that his original declaration was all false.

Mr. Moore sent word to Chas. S. Whitman and Captain Carey of the New York police, who were on their way to Buffalo. The development may cause them to change their plans and return to New York from Albany.

Harris alleges as his reason for the hoax that he had been separated from his wife and had met her again only last week and desired to know whether she would be staunch to him were he in serious trouble. He said that if she had not proved "loyal and true blue" he would have gone to the electric chair without regret.

Harris confessed the hoax to Detective Oswald, of the New York force, Saturday night, but the police officer did not make the fact public because he wished, he said, to talk with Mr. Whitman and Captain Carey first.

He placed a charge of first degree murder against the prisoner and ordered him held incommunicado. After a few hours that charge was withdrawn. Oswald says that it was through his wife that the prisoner's tale was disproved. He took the woman to the outlying police station where the man was locked up and let them talk for an hour or so.

Harris had insisted that his wife was in St. Catharines, Ontario, during the planing of the Elwell murder, while she declared that she was with him in New York that week. She said she gave him a birthday gift of socks that week.

"Did you get a birthday present last year?" asked Oswald. "Why, yes, two pairs of socks," said Harris.

"Who gave them to you?" "My wife," said Harris, with hesitation.

"But you said your wife was in St. Catharines at that time," said Oswald.

"Oh, well, you've caught me. The whole thing is a fake," said Harris, with a hopeless gesture. At noon Sunday Harris was taken to the district attorney's office and confronted with his wife. After he admitted the hoax he was returned to his cell and ordered held without bail in solitary confinement. This was done, the local police say, at the request of Oswald. The wife was returned to her cell, also.

Mrs. South's Husband

They're all throwing bouquets at Dr. John G. South and his wife, Mrs. Christine Bradley South, and all are well deserved. The Philadelphia Ledger started it. The Louisville Times copied it, and added a few garlands, and the Danville Advocate reproduced it and hung on a bouquet. Here it is:

One of the phases of the single standard of suffrage is that a good man cannot receive recognition for his own merit if he happens to have a wife who is influential in politics. If Dr. John G. South, of Kentucky, is appointed Minister to Panama the credit will be given the brilliant and charming Christine Bradley South, of whom Dr. South is the husband. Illustrative of the view taken by the correspondents, the Philadelphia Public Ledger headlined the news of the appointment thus: "Harding to Name Dr. J. G. South, of Kentucky, as Minister to Panama to Reward to Better-half, who is a Member of the Republican Committee." The fact that Doctor South stands pretty well as a man and as a physician in his native States is mentioned, but only incidentally. However, in this case there may be some politics in the coloring given to the report. The Ledger man lets slip a hint when he remarks that Dr. South "hitherto, mainly has affiliated, through family connections, with democratic politics."

The administration, Mr. Harding promised, was to be partisan. It is not exactly partisan to appoint a man "affiliated" in any way with democratic politics. Hence, if the record is to be kept straight the selection of Dr. South must be accounted for as a reward to a member of the National Committee. Seriously, though, whether the appointment comes as a recognition of the former president of the State Board of Health or as tribute to Mrs. South, there will be pleasure in the appointment of another Kentuckian as Minister to Panama. And the Ledger is exactly correct in saying that "Kentucky is especially proud of Mrs. South, the daughter of a former and widely beloved Governor."—Louisville Times. The Times might have gone a little further and added to "a former and widely beloved Governor" a brilliant and popular United States Senator from Kentucky. Leaving politics aside, Dr. South has won his spurs at his profession, besides he is a typical Southern gentleman and will make a most creditable representative of his country. No Cabinet member, no Ambassador, no Minister Plenipotentiary, nor, in fact, any representative of the great government of the United States, can lay claim to a more diplomatic, a more brilliant, or more charmingly graceful wife than Dr. South and they will make a team that will reflect honor upon their government in every action. Kentucky is indeed, proud of the scintillating daughter of a brilliant father.

makes an announcement

Since the big fire on January 11th we have passed through many trying ordeals. We have, however, at all times kept one thing foremost in our minds—

"Service to the Public"

During the past two months with its constant problems and changing conditions, we have consistently refrained from advertising anything that might be misleading or appear to be an exaggeration.

In accordance with our agreement with the owners of the building we now occupy, to vacate same in ten days—we were notified in February to vacate. Conditions have come up since that time that have made it possible for us to retain this building from week to week without a definite lease. In the meantime the contractors have been at work remodeling our former location at 314-316 West Main, with all the speed possible, and from the present outlook, we will be able in a few weeks more to occupy the first floor of our new store, while the remaining floors are being completed, after which time we will have one of the finest and most complete men's and boys' stores in the South, equipped with Grand Rapids new way fixtures throughout.

In the meantime our buyers have been in the market purchasing new, desirable, up-to-the-minute spring merchandise, and from now until our new store is completed, in order to maintain our organization and serve our large list of regular customers, we will offer this new and standard merchandise at prices which are far below the regular selling price.

Our policy of satisfaction will remain unchanged

AT LOCAL THEATRES

At last Dorothy Gish has fallen for the Royal Purple. Yes, it's a fact, the popular little comedienne will be seen as her Royal Highness to the seventh degree when she appears as the heroine of "Little Miss Rebellion" at the local theatres, Tuesday.

If you have any doubts as to Dorothy's right to wear the royal robes, just glance at her title in "Little Miss Rebellion." She is known as Her Sublime Grace, the Grand Duchess Maria Louise, hereditary Countess of Blavatski, Countess of Warsaw, Honorary Colonel of the Life Guard, and a dozen and one other titles too numerous to mention.

And this same titled little lady finds herself with a heavy date to go to a ragtime dance with Mike Casey, of Dayton, O., sometime private in the United States army. And Her Highness, etc., etc., keeps the date, too.

Wanda Hawley, starring in "Her First Elopement" will be seen at the local theatres Wednesday.

De Palma Will Give Dame Fortune Another Chance

INDIANAPOLIS, IND.—Ralph DePalma, international star and one of America's favorite race drivers, is the second to enter the Ninth Annual 500-mile International Sweepstakes of the Indianapolis Motor Speedway, May 30. Eddie Hearne, the last of the millionaires, and who has met DePalma in many a speed battle on road, track and hill, is the only one to precede Ralph in entering.

In filing his entry DePalma has not Peugeot. This time DePalma again named the car he will drive, but it is a Mercedes. While Ralph had generally believed that this will be a battle from the Paris factory, DePalma has been driving the "eight-in-line" speedster for two years and started the championship season at Los Angeles, on Washington's birthday, at the wheel of the French car. He has also been selected by Earnest Ballot to captain his team of four cars in the French Grand Prix in July.

DePalma gained favor of the speed fans in 1912 by defeat rather than victory. The Italian-American drove a Mercedes in the 500 nine years ago. For 495 miles he showed the way to all the American and foreign cars and drivers, only to have victory slip from his grasp and see $20,000 vanish, with two laps of the brick course to go. His "dago luck," as he chose to designate his misfortune, made him the favorite of almost every fan.

Three years later he set a track record and won the Indianapolis classic, after an almost seven-hour battle with Dario Resta and his fleet

DePalma, in making his entry has advised T. E. Myers, secretary-general manager of the Indianapolis Motor Speedway Company, that he hopes to be the first to hang up two five-century victories, although he is not egotistical enough to state that he will win the event, which last year carried a total cash award of about $100,000.

Ill luck last May was all that prevented DePalma from being the first to win a pair of Indianapolis races. The same was true in 1919, when he set the pace for the first half of the race. Although DePalma has won countless races, the fans admire him more for his sportsman-like attitude nine years ago when victory was turned into defeat.

Visit The Model Homes Exhibit

South Hanover Avenue, Ashland Park, Open Daily 1 to 9 P. M., April 11 to 21

HOME is the magic word that stirs the deepest emotions of the human heart and it is in the Home that one expects to find cheer, repose, harmony and happiness.

Beginning Monday, April 11, and continuing for eleven days, two handsome and thoroughly modern Homes, located on a part of the original homestead of The Great Commoner, Henry Clay, equipped with those things that make homes worth while, will be open for your inspection and entertainment.

Reasons for this Exhibit

For the past few years there has been a rapidly growing scarcity of homes. Every village, every town, every city in America has experienced this shortage.

To stimulate home building and to aid those who wish to construct and equip their homes as nearly perfect as possible is the object of this demonstration.

Having just completed two residences of distinctive types of pure New England colonial design, we sought and were fortunate in securing the assistance of those who are associated with us in this exhibit. It is our desire to demonstrate to those interested in the home and its needs, what may be accomplished through expert knowledge and scientific methods in creating and equipping the Home.

Some day you may build a home. This is your opportunity to inspect from cellar to garret two of the most beautiful, conveniently arranged and perfectly equipped homes in Central Kentucky.

Come as our guest and bring your friends with you. We promise you a most intensely interesting, instructive and pleasant visit.

Take East Main Street Cars and tell the conductor "Model Homes."

REDS HAVE ALMOST NEW TEAM IN FIELD

(By Associated Press)

Cincinnati, O., April 11—When the Reds take the field for the opening game of the season in this city on April 13, against the Pittsburgh Pirates, they will be a remodeled baseball club from that which won the National League pennant and the scandalous world series in 1919. Unless Ed Rousch, center fielder, and Henry Groh, third baseman, who are holdouts, capitulate and return to the lineup, there will be only three of the Reds of 1919 in the game. They will be Pat Duncan, in left field; Jake Daubert at first, and Ivy Wingo behind the bat. Even the appearance of Jake Daubert depends upon the condition he is in for playing for the veteran player did not go with the team to Texas for spring training. If he is not in shape, Pitcher Rube Bressler, who is the handy man of the outfit, will be perched on the first station. At second will be Louis Fonseca obtained from a Western league. Fonseca is one of the best finds of the playing season. He has clinched the regular job at second base, unless Groh returns, it being the intention of Manager Moran to put Groh at second base if he signs up. But the veteran will have a hard time replacing Fonseca if at all.

At the shortfield will be Sam Crane, Larry Kopf the shortstop of the team for three seasons says he has retired from the game. At third, will be Sam Bohne, secured from the Seattle club of the Pacific Coast league, who is regarded as the equal of Groh at the "hot corner." Duncan will be in left field. Charlie See, will hold down center unless Rousch returns. In that event See will be shifted to right where once famed Earle Neale, who was traded to the Philadelphia Nationals. If Rousch continues to hold out, the veteran George Paskert will be in right. Eller, Luque, and Fisher are the only pitchers of the 1919 team left to Moran. King, Kauter, and Sallee have gone. The team as at present constituted, has developed unexpected strength at the bat and the work of the infield has been highclass. Manager Moran believes that he has gathered together an ambitious team, a club that will win more games than it will lose. The fans believe that it is sure to finish in the first division and perhaps very high up in select circles should Rousch and Groh be wearing the red when the gong sounds for the first battle.

LAUGH BULLFIGHTS OUT OF MEXICO?

(By Associated Press)

Mexico City, April 11—A question seriously considered here is whether bullfights are to be laughed out of Mexico through the introduction of the "toros bufos" (comical bullfights.)

Serious chroniclers of the Mexican amusement are concerned by the fact that a company of Spanish bullfights has just finished a series of comic fights here with record attendance and attracting almost as much interest as the serious conflicts in which the best matadors in the game have appeared.

They were further agitated when six girls announced themselves as "toradors" and, on a Sunday afternoon, succeeded in dispatching six bulls while their clown companions amused the crowd with antics burlesquing every bullfighter known to the game.

"What is to become of the noble sport of bullfighting," inquired one writer, "if first of all, clowns are allowed to make it appear ridiculous and then senoritas are permitted to enter the arena and attempt a show of skill?"

American visitors to Mexico generally find more enjoyment in the comical fights than in the regular games. In the former no horses are used although the bull is eventually killed. The fighters, who display much skill and athletic ability, perform all sorts of grotesque stunts with the animal before it is dispatched.

COOPER ALSO SAYS SCRUB STOCK IS BAD

(By Associated Press)

Lexington, Ky., April 11—Scrub stock is responsible for a large percentage of low farm labor incomes, according to a statement by Thomas P. Cooper, director of the Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station, made public here today. The farmers may use efficient machinery, good work stock and have the soil in productive condition but unless his livestock are efficient producers he will feed and care for them at a loss, Director Cooper said. The average cow or steer will scarcely make a profit for its owner, he said, declaring that the road to economy in production, whether in milk, meat or eggs, is by better breeding.

In contrast to the low returns from scrub animals, Director Cooper pointed out the increased profits that are to be realized by the production of better livestock. He declared that a purebred beef sire of good quality would raise the quality of his offspring at least two grades above that of a scrub sire which is a 1,000 pound steer at present prices amounted to $8. Results of experiments conducted by the Kentucky Station also were given to substantiate the claim that returns from purebred stock were higher than those from scrubs.

According to the statement, a five-year old 1,277 pound scrub steer sired by a scrub bull was recently slaughtered at the station and gave a dressed weight of 727 pounds, having a market value of $134. At the same time, a two-year old 1,423 pound high grade steer, sired by a purebred bull, was slaughtered and dressed out 910 pounds having a value of $206 a difference of $72 above the value of the scrub animal.

Further experiments which were cited and which were conducted at the station over a period of six years, show that lambs sired by good purebred rams weighed five to ten pounds more per head at five or six months of age than those sired by scrub animals. Their superior quality and finish brought at 10 percent more a pound on the director said.

Experiments conducted on sheep show that a common ewe shears about five pounds of wool while grade ewes sire dry purebred rams sheared from one to three pounds more each.

In experiments with dairy cows three scrubs that averaged 3,600 pounds of milk and 171 pounds of butterfat for a year were bred to three purebred dairy bulls. The first cross gave heifers that averaged 5,998 pounds of milk and 261 pounds of butterfat, a gain of 90 pounds of butterfat a year above their dams. The heifers from the first cross were bred again, heifers from this mating averaging 8,400 pounds of milk and 358 pounds of butterfat. The two crosses from purebred sires resulted in an increase of 187 pounds of butterfat above that of the scrub grand dam, according to Director Cooper.

SCHOOL ZONE SIGNS

An interesting feature of an up-to-date town appeared on the streets of Richmond Thursday afternoon in the form of School Zone signs on the streets approaching the Eastern Kentucky Normal and city schools. On one side of these attractively worked up signs are the words "Drive Slowly: School Zone," while on the other side are the words, "Thank You." It is expected that the appearance of these signs will serve to check the fast driving in the school districts, where speeding is an extra hazard on account of the many children going and coming. This enterprising movement was made possible by the Parent-Teachers Association and was promoted by a committee composed of Mrs. H. W. Carpenter, Mrs. W. J. Wagers, and Mrs. Wm. Bales. It is hoped that the public will co-operate, in every possible way in the protection of the children of the community from the dangers of rapid and reckless driving.

MAY 4 USUALLY JACK FROST'S LIMIT

(By Associated Press)

Lexington, Ky., April 11—Kentuckians who wish to gamble with the elements in making plans for their gardens and planting the seeds have a nine to one chance that after May 4 Jack Frost will have finished his destruction and left the state until September 29, according to a list of probable dates of killing frosts for 29 Kentucky cities compiled at the College of Agriculture, University of Kentucky, for the information of home gardeners. The list shows that in one year out of every ten the last killing frost in the state occurs in the spring after May 4 at Maysville. Louisville is the earliest city in the list, the last killing frost in the spring occurring in that region after April 21, in one year out of ten.

Hopkinsville, Irvington, and Marion have one after April 24 in every ten years, while the regions of Paducah, Owensboro and Scott are visited by the killer after April 25 once in every decade.

Frankfort, Mt. Sterling, Earlington, and Williamsburg receive a visit after April 26 once in the same number of years, while Richmond, Leitchfield and Middlesboro get a similar visit after April 27th. Bowling Green and Shelbyville are surprised once in the same number of years after April 28th.

Vegetation in the region of Lexington, Anchorage and Loretto is nipped once in every decade after April 29, while St. John is scheduled for nine-to-one chance visit from Jack after April 30.

Once in every ten years the regions surrounding Greensburg and Edmonton are scheduled for

WIFE NOT EQUAL GUARDIAN OF CHILD

In Five States of Union, Says Speaker Before Women Voters' League Convention

(By Associated Press)

Cleveland, O., April 11—Twentieth Century laws make wife and husband joint and equal guardians of their children, but there are a few states that have not adopted such laws as yet, according to Mrs. Catherine Waugh McCulloch, in addressing the National League of Women Voters here today on the subject "Wife and Husband as Guardians."

"Twentieth Century laws make wife and husband joint and equal guardians of their children, with equal powers concerning their custody, nurture, tuition, earnings, and services" said Mrs. McCulloch. "In case of death of incapacity of either parent, these powers develop upon the survivor. Indiana and Vermont took this advance step during the present session of the legislature. In several other states similar measures are pending."

"Twenty-five states and the District of Columbia recognize the parents equality, namely: California, Colorado, Connecticut, District of Columbia, Idaho, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Kentucky, Maine, Massachusetts, Minnesota, Missouri, Montana, Nebraska, New Hampshire, New York, Oregon, Pennsylvania, Utah, Vermont, Virginia, Washington, and Wyoming."

"There are eighteen other states which have, to a less degree, recognized the wife's power by making her guardian of her child after the death of her husband. This takes away the husband's ancient right to select the child's guardian by deed or will. Among the partially modern states are: Alabama, Arizona, Arkansas, Louisiana, Michigan, Mississippi, New Jersey, New Mexico, North Carolina, North Dakota, Ohio, Oklahoma, Rhode Island, South Dakota, South Carolina, Texas, West Virginia and Wisconsin."

"In all of the 48 states in case of litigation courts consult only the best interests of the child, and can remove an unworthy or incapable parent from the guardianship."

"There are five states which continue the guardianship laws inherited from the dark ages, and where the father's absolute power can only be partially modified under unusual circumstances. These are: Delaware, 'The father may by deed or will name a guardian for his child.' Florida, a similar provision. Georgia, 'He may appoint by will,' other sections are somewhat obscure."

"Maryland, 'The husband may appoint by deed or will, unless he has abandoned his wife without lawful cause.'"

"The only explanation for such laws in this country may be this, that most husbands in these five states have been much more kind and just than the law and so, few wives ever discover how cruel their husbands might have been. Only devotion to truth has necessitated holding up these five states as horrible examples. Their very next legislatures may place them in the first rank with states having modern laws concerning the wife's right to have an equal share in the guardianship of her child."

MILLIONS IN GOODS IDLE IN ARGENTINE

(By Associated Press)

Buenos Aires, April 11—American merchandise that has been refused by importers because of unfavorable exchange and the slump in world prices continues to pile up on the wharves in Buenos Aires. It is now estimated that the value of the goods laying in the warehouses and on quays amounts to $50,000,000.

The warehouses under control of the customs houses, have long since overflowed to vacant lots and railroad sidings where valuable merchandise is heaped up protected only by tarpaulins.

Passenger ships that must be unloaded immediately are forced to transfer their freight to lighters while freight ships often are forced to wait several weeks in the roads before getting a berth from which to unload. In some instances it has taken as long as six weeks to get cargo discharged.

25,000 Barrell Well In Argentine

Buenos Aires, April 11—The first big gusher, among the oil wells in the government field at Comodoro Rivadavia, has just been brought in with an estimated product of 25,000 barrels a day. The previous wells in that district had been small. As this new one is in a new part of the field it is thought that this may mean Argentina is entering on an era of large production. The oil is heavy, as is the other oil so far produced at Comodoro Rivadavia, and is of little use except for fuel.

HEALTH BOARD NOW OWNS ITS HOME

(By Associated Press)
Louisville, Ky., April 11.—Title to the building occupied by the State Board of Health for the past years, since the Board was brought to Louisville from Bowling Green, has been formerly conveyed to the Commonwealth of Kentucky, finally completing the transaction. The property purchased is a four-story and basement brick structure at Sixth and Main streets.

"In purchasing this building for the State Board of Health," Dr. A. T. McCormack, State Health Officer, said, "Kentucky is taking a forward step from which it will derive benefits for the next twenty years. Apart from the saving of rent, the building exactly suits our requirements. There is ample room for all the administrative work of the board's various bureaus. The fourth floor makes an ideal laboratory and if we had to move, we could not fix up our laboratory for less than $5,000. The third floor is exactly adapted to our School of Public Health Education use."

"The most important thing, however, is that we have the vaults we are required to have by the vital statistics law, for the storage of vital statistics archives. These vaults alone, if we undertook to construct them somewhere else, would cost us as much as we paid for the entire building. There is not only enough room in them for the archives that we have accumulated during the five years the vital statistics law has been in force, but they are large enough to care for our archives for the next twenty years."

In order to prevent possible litigation in the future the deed was made to read "The Commonwealth of Kentucky for the use and benefit of the State Board of Health," an recommendation of the State Attorney General.

A YEAR MAKES BIG CHANGE IN EUROPE

(By Associated Press)
Paris, April 9.—American tourists who visit Europe in the coming season will find it generally much changed over last year, greatly recovered from the effects of the war and prepared to give almost normal accommodations in hotels, transportation and luxury in food.

The prices will be, with the advantage of exchange with American money, about the same as in America. The chief increase over the pre-war costs of touring Europe will be that of ocean transit with some increase in rail transportation. Persons able to travel de luxe will find their expense about on a par with the cost of living at the better class hotels in America.

The chief points of interest to tourists are expected to be the battlefields, and for this persons will find the roads in France especially, in better condition even than before the war. The railway trains are running on time and are rapidly approaching normal.

The fee for passport visas for Americans in most countries is $10 and the number of visas for touring remains about the same as during the war, but French government has just lessened somewhat the severity of its restrictions. The French will no longer require a card of identity for a tourist remaining in the country less than two months. The requirement for a prefecture of police visa for leaving France has been removed.

The passport requirements of the various nations on the continent are said by recent travelers to be much less trying than last year—hardly more so than customs formalities for most countries, including the United States. It is desirable, however, for the travelers to provide sufficient passport photographs for the countries requiring them for the visa applications.

Age-Old Custom Broken By Society of Friends

New York, April 11.—The Society of Friends for the first time in generations today conducted a meeting here in a place other than their own church. Nearly 3,000 persons made up the audience in New York's Town Hall to listen to the principles guiding Quakers in their relief work in the various parts of Europe.

KENTUCKY COUNTIES

Greenup—Greenup county was formed in 1803 of part of Mason county, being the 45th in the order of formation. Greenup, incorporated in 1818 as Greensburg is the county seat. The name of the town was changed by the legislature in 1872, because of the confusion with another Greensburg. Part of this county later went into the formation of Lawrence, Carter and Boyd counties. It was named after Gov. Christopher Greenup, Revolutionary war soldier, and who held a number of state offices being clerk of the Senate when the county was formed. He was elected governor in 1804.

SUNDAY, MAY 8, IS MOTHERS' DAY

Louisville, Ky., April 9.—Mothers and daughters have served suppers at Father-Son banquets frequently and if the suggestion of the Kentucky Sunday School Association is taken up, Fathers and Sons will serve the food at Mother and Daughter banquets Friday evening, May 6. The Association suggests, however, that they be put out of the room while the program is being carried out.

On Mothers' Day, Sunday, May 8, association suggests mothers and daughters have full charge of the Sunday School programs. A tentative program has been prepared by the association that gives the service entirely over to them. The program suggests:

- 1—Opening prayer, by mother.
- 2—Scripture reading by daughter.
- 3—Solo by mother or duet by mother and daughter.
- 4—Special report of the Mother and Daughter banquet, by daughter.
- 5—Lesson: visiting mothers' and daughters' classes.

- 7—Selection by girls' orchestra.
- 7—Story of a great woman Bible character, by daughter.
- 8—Short talk by a mother.
- 9—Special tribute to "Mother" by a daughter.
- 10—Closing hymn.

Grand American Prerogative

The right to choose is the grand American prerogative—the glory of American democracy.

And a most important part of it—the right to choose what you buy—was bestowed upon you by advertising.

Advertising is as much a part of today's life as electricity, antiseptic surgery or motor traction. It is the system whereby a man who has something to sell tells about it to those who do or should use it. For no one can want anything until he knows of its existence.

Advertising is the way by which you are told why you should have certain goods and how to identify those goods. So the advertisements you find in the Daily Register make up a catalogue of needed articles.

Articles of all kinds and for all purposes are presented in a pleasant way through the medium of type and pictures. The outstanding requirements of every member of the family are met by offers of good merchandise of proved value.

The advertisements in the Daily Register will help you in the selection of all manner of things.
